

Dear Brent,

It has been three months since we moved into our new house! We would just want to let you know that although we have been quite busy moving in, packing and unpacking, we really enjoyed our new home, and we appreciate your help that made us this far.

We want to thank you for your valuable professional advice for us during this whole purchase process. We appreciate you not making decisions for us, but rather offering us input for our consideration. I guess there must be plenty of times you can say “I told you so”, but thanks for not saying them, which was quite important to us at the time. Getting a house can be stressful, but you made it easier for us. Thanks for the patience you showed us when we went through one house to another, the special point of view you offered us from your years of experience, the calmness you brought us when we were worried that things could go wrong, and the timeliness that made all things knit together nicely, which finally got us here. We also appreciate your kind follow up after we bought the house, such as your friendly reminder of our first month rent, and the web site that you have signed us up, which is really helpful for us as first-time home owners.

You have made our house purchasing a good experience. We would definitely recommend you to our friends.

We wish you the best with your family, your soccer team and your career.

Sincerely,

Judy Ni
